TO CLEAR NAME OF POULTRY MAN

Denies Any Connection with Death of his Mother-in-Law. Local People may be Called to Prove an Alibi.

To gather evidence which will clear Aaron Fell, an officer of the American Poultry Association, of any connection with the murder of his mother-in-law, a Pittsburgh detective was in Gettysburg and Biglerville yesterday interviewing local persons with whom Fell transacted business at the time of the Gettysburg Poultry Show during the week of December 7-11.

Fell's mother-in-law, Mrs. Caroline F. Viehmier, was killed at her home on the Perryville Road, not far from Pittsburgh, on the night of Saturday, December 11. John White, aged 13 years, was arrested in South Carolina, not long afterward charged with the murder and he is said to have made a confession at Washington, D. C., on his way back to Pittsburgh, that he and a friend had gone to the Viehmier home for the purpose of robbery and had killed the aged woman. No one else was in any way implicated.

After he got back to Pittsburgh, however, White stated that he had been hired by Fell to recover a note for $4000 held by Mrs. Viehmier, promising $100 if he succeeded and suggesting that he get a partner to help commit the burglary. White says that he arranged to have William McClure, aged 25, help him, offering $50 for his services; and that, on the night of the burglary, when they were surprised by Mrs. Viehmier, they bound and gagged her and ran away, after taking a gold watch and $4. Under cross-examination by Attorney Marshall, counsel for Fell, White admitted that he had hit Mrs. Viehmier on the head with the butt of his revolver.

William Viehmier, son of the decedent, testified that his mother had held a note of $4000 against Fell but that he did not know what had become of it.

It is to clear Fell of any connection with the murder that the Pittsburgh detective was here on Thursday. From the Eagle Hotel and from Penrose Myers he secured affidavits of Fell's visit here during the week of the poultry show, and a similar statement was secured from Oscar C. Rice, Biglerville who had charge of the show. Mr. Fell, during his visit here, was representing the American Poultry Association and a poultry journal published in Chicago.

White, in his effort to implicate Fell, said that the conversation concerning the securing of the note took place on Wednesday or Thursday, December 8 or 9. The murder occurred at ten o'clock on Saturday night the 11th. Fell claims he left home on Monday the 6th and did not return home until eleven o'clock Saturday night so that he could not have had the alleged conversation.

Affidavits similar to those secured here have been got at Harrisburg, Altoona, and other places, where Mr. Fell spent time that week. It is said that he is held in the highest esteem in his community and that all believe him innocent of the charge. He is, however, held in jail, without bail, as are White and McClure.

BOYER TO HEAD LEAGUE AGAIN

Believe there will be no Trouble about Retaining his Services. Moseley Goes from Maroons to the Hanover Team.

There is a very strong probability that C. W. Boyer, of Hagerstown, will again be elected president of the Blue Ridge League. Although he has declared he does not want the place this season a slate with him at the head is being fixed up now and he seems very likely to succeed himself. Hagerstown Herald says:

"Charles W. Boyer, president of the Blue Ridge League during 1915, stated that he did not want the presidency again this year if anyone else could possibly be secured to take the position. The other towns in the league will not listen to this plea on the part of Mr. Boyer, and they remember the condition in which the league finished the 1915 season with him at the helm. While other older and much stronger leagues were striving for the want of attendance, the Blue Ridge League teams were playing to record crowds, for it was shown from the condition of the coffers of the various teams at the end of the season. To Mr. Boyer is due much of the credit for the league's splendid showing.

"As far as is known, all of the other officials of the league last year will accept the positions if elected for the coming season."

Elmer Moseley, who was with the Chambersburg team last year, signed a contract with Hanover on Wednesday. He is given a position as time keeper with a factory for $17 a week and gets a salary of $75 a month on the ball team. He is held under release as he was told to take the place offered him by Hanover and there would be no trouble.

NEGRO RELATES MURDER STORY

Now Admits Use of Horse to Drag out Body of his Victim. Does not Want to Go back to Carroll County.

Frankly and graphically Solomon Sutler, the 19 year old negro, who on Saturday killed William F. Brown, a farmer of Silver Run, Carroll County, in Marshall Carter's office at Baltimore Thursday afternoon told the story of his crime. He related the circumstances leading up to the murder, the commission of the deed and the disposal of the body in a strip of woods near Brown's home; his subsequent attempt to escape and his capture in Cumberland on Wednesday.

Sutler verified the theory of the Carroll County authorities that a horse was used to drag the body from the barn where the farmer was killed to the woods, where it was found early on Sunday morning.

Sheriff Stoner and the negro were met at Baltimore by State's Attorney E. O. Weant, and taken to the office of Marshal of Police Carter, where Sutler repeated the confession he had made on Wednesday in Cumberland to Chief of Police Eisenhauer.

Sutler stated that last Friday morning he awoke late and that Mr. Brown, who was bending over, milking and I rushed toward him with a heavy stone which I threw. It struck him on the back of the head. After he stopped trembling I took his money from his pocket and went to the carriage shed and got a rope, which I tied about his body. I then got a singletree and hitched a horse to his body and dragged him across the farm to the woods. I rode the horse back to the stable; then met Truman Williams, with whom I ran away."

Williams is at the jail also, having been arrested on Tuesday at Catonsville. Sutler stated that while Williams did not participate in the murder of Mr. Brown, he had told him that he was going to get some money "some way," intimating that he would get it even though it should be necessary to hold up some one.

While Sutler is but 17 years old, he looks at least 21. He was asked by Marshal Carter if he wanted to go back to Westminster, and he quickly replied: "Please don't take me back; I'm afraid." He admitted he feared being lynched if taken there. Williams told Mr. Weant that when Sutler came to him his hands were covered with blood and that he admitted killing Mr. Brown.

Carroll Jury to Meet Westminster, Jan. 7—Chief Judge William H. Thomas, of the Circuit Court for Carroll County, issued a call last night for the November term of the grand jury to meet Tuesday to investigate the murder of William F. Brown, of Silver Run, for which crime Solomon Sutler, a negro, is in the Baltimore City Jail. If Sutler is indicted the petit jury will be summoned immediately and the negro placed on trial.

The feeling against Sutler has subsided. The citizens are satisfied now to let the law take its course, believing that the negro cannot escape the gallows.

Policeman Gets Reward Cumberland, Jan. 7—Assistant Chief of Police Clay Wilson was handed a check for $500 Thursday morning by Sheriff James N. Stoner, of Carroll County, as the reward for the arrest of Solomon Sutler, the negro youth, who confessed to the murder of William F. Brown, a farmer.

GITT STORE IN HANOVER ROBBED

Ransack Various Departments of Large Place of Business. Stop to Change their Suits of Clothing. Have Some Clues.

Hanover had another bold robbery early Thursday morning. The burglarizing of Gitt's department store, on the Square, is supposed to have been done by at least two thieves, the suspicion resulting from traces left by the men.

The men broke into the cutting room on the first floor, a window having been pried open. Wherever the thieves worked the contents of that department were left in a rifled condition.

In the office, where stamps and about $7 in money are missing papers, etc., were strewn about the floor, and several oranges in a desk were taken. The shoe department was visited and at least some of the stock removed. A lady's umbrella, rings, watches, stickpins, and other jewelry were stolen while in the men's clothing department two suit cases, an overcoat, neckties, and possibly a suit were taken.

In an alley between the Schue and Worley properties, the men changed clothes, leaving behind the suit cases and their old suits. Suspicion rests on certain people and arrests are expected to follow before long.

U.S. ASKS AUSTRIA TO FURNISH FACTS

State Department in Dark of Persia Sinking.

CONGRESS TAKES A HAND

It is Believed President Will Keep Leaders Informed of Situation
Two Americans on Death List.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Ambassador Penfield cabled that he had presented informally to the Vienna foreign office the American government's request for information on the destruction of the British steamship Persia, in which several hundred persons lost their lives, including two Americans.

At the time of filing his despatch Mr. Penfield had received no reply. Consul Garrels at Alexandria reported to the state department that the affidavits he has obtained from the Persia survivors give no additional proofs that a submarine torpedoed the ship, though were contained in his first despatches.

So far the only actual statement tending to prove that the ship was torpedoed came from an officer of the ship, who said he thought he saw the wake of a torpedo. No submarine was seen at any time.

Chairman Stone, of the foreign relations committee, discussed the situation with the president, and talked over other questions expected to come up at a meeting of the committee. The president told Senator Stone no additional information of importance had been received on the incident, and expressed hope that until the government had formulated its policy there be as little discussion as possible in the senate.

Senators Simmons and Overman, of North Carolina, asked President Wilson if any further information about the death of Consul R. N. McNeely, who was on his way to his post at Aden, Arabia, when the Persia was sunk, had been received. McNeely was from North Carolina. The president told them no new facts had come to the government within the last two days, but that every effort was being made to obtain additional information.

Ray. Homer Salisbury, the Seventh Day Adventist missionary superintendent in India, who sailed on the Persia from Marseilles, is given up for lost, in a report which the Peninsula and Oriental line has transmitted to the American embassy in London.

Through the debate in the senate on the sinking of the Persia, congress at last has begun to take a hand in the submarine controversy.

Efforts have been made by the administration to keep the members of congress from talking upon the international situation resulting from the repeated attacks upon merchant vessels by undersea boats. In the existing delicate condition of our foreign relations, President Wilson desired to prevent anything which might tend in any way to interfere with his handling of the situation.

But the debate proved an opening wedge, and however much congress in deference to the president, and in consideration of the serious situation confronting this country, may hold itself in restraint, it is conceded that from now on the executive must take congress, and, through it, the people into his deliberations.

ITALIAN LINER COMES TO U. S. PORT ARMED

Guns With Navy Marksmen as U-Boat Defence.

New York, Jan. 7.—Guns of the Royal Italian navy were in charge of two guns on the Italian steamship Giuseppe Verdi, which arrived from Genoa, Naples and Palermo, according to the captain, Luigi Zannoni.

After the vessel left Palermo, the captain said, daily practice was held with the guns, barrels being thrown overboard as targets.

The guns were placed on the Giuseppe Verdi by order of the Italian naval authorities, but the captain says he was instructed to use them for defence only.

The two gunners became extremely proficient in shooting the barrels passengers said. The guns were mounted on the after-house of the vessel, one on either side, and were in position to command all positions from the ship.

When the Giuseppe Verdi docked P. A. Dowsey, a member of the gun neutrality squad, inspected the guns and reported to Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port.

SAYS KAISER HAS CANCER

Physician in Berlin.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 7.—A Baltimore physician, whose name is withheld at his request, says that he has been informed by Dr. James J. West, a former Baltimorean, and now eminent in Berlin medical circles, that Emperor William of Germany has cancer.

The Imperial physician then reported the Kaiser had improved and that an operation would not be necessary. According to information conveyed by Dr. West to his friend here, the operation was performed and it was for an ulcer on the right side of the larynx.

Say Kaiser's Illness is Slight.

RUSS FIGHTING ON FIELDS OF ICE

Czar Launched Offensive With Coming of Cold.

ARE ADVANCING IN GALICIA

Both Muscovite and Teuton Forces
Use Skis to Battle on Ice in Swampy Regions.

Petrograd, Jan. 7.—A phenomenally severe winter, which within the last three weeks in Petrograd, for instance, has resulted in a temperature of thirty degrees below zero, has, instead of retarding military movements, given openings for attacks in newly-opened gaps in the German line, from Riga to Galicia.

Rivers, lakes and swamps, which hitherto have formed a natural barrier between the German and Russian lines, have become solid ice. For the possession of these gaps, many of which give valuable facilities for cavalry flanking movements, fierce battles are now raging.

So determined has been the Russian effort to win and utilize these ice gaps that the Germans have found it necessary to hurry up all their available reserves. In many instances they have concentrated over the short sectors scores of thousands more troops than hitherto. Military experts estimate that there are now 1,500,000 Austro-German troops deployed on the Russian front.

Reinforcements are arriving daily including numbers of German troops hastily withdrawn from Serbia, according to the acknowledgment of certain captured units.

Thus the inference follows that if Greece continues to refuse the Bulgarians the right of entry into Greek territory, the Austro-Germans are not likely to possess the requisite backing in favor of pressing a vigorous offensive against Salonika.

One of the interesting features of this ice gap fighting is the extensive use of skis by both the Russians and Germans. This is especially true of the swamps, Tchartrysk valley, in the Stry region, which through the rapid December thaw became a great lake. Then a wave of severe frost transformed the level into a sheet of thick ice, completely altering the strategic possibilities of the region.

Here the other day a Russian cavalry detachment, lurking in a fringe of birchwood, dashed out, chased and captured a party of Austrians mounted on skis. Among the prisoners were Baron Wolfhoven and several other prominent Viennese sportsmen.

Austrian snipers, on the outposts along the southern frontier, are now equipped with white linen cloaks and trousers, rendering it difficult to see them against the snow.

The Germans are paying increased attention to the Usskul region, in the northern sector, where an intense artillery action has been proceeding for several days. The frost has been less severe during the last two days, but it is still holding along the front.

In a strenuous battle on a 13-mile stretch on the southern front, between the Danubian and the Rumanian frontier, the Russians have gained. From the south of the Stripa they made a sudden advance along a thirty-three mile front, holding and entrenching the ground gained. They also advanced near Olpa in the Stry region and crossed two lines of German trenches which they cleared and occupied.

BOY DIES IN COAL AS FATHER HOLDS HAND

Lad Caught in Chute Smothers as Rescuers Work.

Nesqueh, Pa., Jan. 7.—While his father, John Kersner, gripped the hand of his eleven-year-old son, Heister, and urged the boy to keep up courage, the child smothered to death in coal where he had been caught.

The father was unloading coal at the Kirsland yards when the son attempted to jump across the chutes just as the chute was opened. The first knowledge anyone had of the accident came with the stopping of the coal elevator and the finding of pieces of the boy's clothing.

The child was located under the coal and frantic efforts were made to save him, but he died before he could be removed.

The same day a letter was received from another son in New York stating he had a premonition that something horrible was about to happen in the family, and urged them all to be careful.

GERMANS USE NO COTTON IN MAKING EXPLOSIVES.

Powder Mills May Never Buy Another
Bale From America.

Germany's experiments with substitutes for cotton in the manufacture of explosives have been so successful, it was announced in Bremen, that for eight months no cotton has been used for this purpose. This statement was made by the president of the Bremen chamber of commerce in an address to a convention of merchants. After referring to the designation of cotton as contraband by Great Britain he said:

"I have had the opportunity to establish officially that for eight months not a kilogram of cotton has been used for making powder. Thanks to the work of German science and industry, we have succeeded in winning from the immeasurable supply of German forests a new cellular material which is cheaper and better suited for powder making than cotton. Even after the war German ammunition factories will not buy another bale of cotton from America."

"The second important ingredient, saltpetre, of the entire Chilean output of which we formerly took two-thirds, is now manufactured exclusively by Germany from the air. Our factories already are so advanced that in the coming spring they will be able to cover the entire requirements for nitrogen, including the amount used in agriculture, and if the war lasts longer they will even be able to export this product."

"The speaker also asserted that camphor, which for seven years has been produced synthetically from American turpentine, was now obtained more cheaply and in better quality by chemical means. Even after the war, he said, there would be no more importation of camphor from Japan or turpentine from America."

MANY DELEGATES TO BE ELECTED

Democrats In St. Louis Meeting Require Two-thirds Vote to Nominate a Presidential Candidate.

HERE are some facts about the two great national political conventions of 1916, which will meet to nominate candidates for the presidency and vice presidency and to adopt platforms for the Democratic and Republican parties.

The Republican convention will meet in Chicago on June 7, its sessions to be held in the Coliseum, where both the Republicans and Progressive conventions were held in 1912. The Coliseum has made more political history than any other convention hall in the country.

The Democratic convention will meet in St. Louis on June 14 in the new convention hall, which is said to be the finest and most modern in the United States and which has never yet housed a national convention.

Both conventions will be unique in this respect—for the first time in their histories each will show a majority of delegates elected by direct primary vote. Twenty-two of the forty-eight states now have primary laws which eliminate the selection of delegates by the old system of local and state conventions.

Republican Delegates Cut Down.

The Republican convention of 1916 will have 985 delegates as against 1,078 in 1912. This reduction in the total has been accomplished by cutting down the representation of southern states, which are habitually Democratic and whose votes in Republican conventions have been a frequent cause of scandal and disruption. The reapportionment of the Republican convention was decided upon by the national committee of that party in December, 1913, when it met in Washington, after several conventions had attempted the same thing without result.

The Democratic convention this year will consist of the same number of delegates as in 1912, the total being 1,088. In 1912, the delegates were elected by the old system of local and state conventions.

The Democratic convention will continue to require a two-thirds vote to nominate a candidate and therefore the nominees selected at St. Louis in 1916 must have at least 726 votes.

Out of the total number of delegates in the Republican convention, which is 985, there will be 613 selected by direct primary in twenty-two states. This will leave 372 to be chosen by the old-fashioned method. Thus it will be impossible for the national committee, which makes up the temporary roll of the convention, to "steam roll" a nominee of its own choosing, because the committee has already decided that it will place upon the temporary roll the names of all primary delegates who present certificates of election. More than 62 per cent of the next Republican convention will be of direct primary selection.

Democrats Chosen by Primaries.

In the Democratic convention 624 of the total number of delegates will be chosen by direct primary and 464 by the old convention method. This means that a little more than 57 per cent of the Democratic convention will be composed of primary delegates. The primary delegates will not constitute the two-thirds necessary to nominate.

The states which will elect delegates to both conventions by direct primary are as follows, the total number being twenty-two:

Alabama, Indiana, Minnesota, New

MEDALS FOR ALL THE BRAVE.

French Commander Has Special Issue For His Own Men.

The commander of one of the French regiments whose soldiers have distinguished themselves by many acts of bravery has just taken a step which is certain to gratify those who have neither been decorated nor been cited in "the order of the day." He has ordered from the mint a large number of medals, on one side of which is engraved the call "To Arms!" and on the reverse the inscription, "Campaign of 1914-1915," the number of the regiment, "Awarded For Courage," and the name of the soldier to whom the medal is given.

This commander's theory, according to the figure, is that all acts of bravery deserve recognition, and those who are not singled out for the special honors of the war cross and the Legion of Honor should by no means be neglected. He believes that by awarding these medals he will increase the already demonstrated efficiency of his troops.

Crowd Carried Money. John Schenck, foreman of a construction camp in Chico, Cal., while on a hunting trip, fired into a flock of crows, killing one. When he picked up the bird he found tightly clasped in its beak a dollar bill.

CONVENTIONS TO DIRECT PRIMARIES

Republicans Reduce Representation of Southern States Which Always Go Democratic.

Hampshire, North Dakota, Michigan, Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana, Massachusetts, Ohio, Maryland, California, Pennsylvania, Oregon, New Jersey, South Dakota, West Virginia and Vermont.

In the Republican convention those states which will have a reduced number of delegates over 1912, as a result of the reapportionment, are: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. These states, with the elimination of the voting power of Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico, represent a total reduction of ninety-three votes in the convention.

In the last half century, since the civil war, Chicago has been the most popular convention city, four Democratic and seven Republican conventions having been held there, beginning in 1864. Six winners have been nominated in Chicago—two by Democrats and four by the Republicans.

St. Louis has had but four conventions since the civil war, not counting this year's. The Democrats have nominated three losers there, while the Republicans nominated one winner—Grant—in that city, in 1872. Baltimore has had three conventions—two Democratic and one Republican, producing two winners. Philadelphia has had two and both turned out winning candidates. Cincinnati has had two, both in the same year. New York, Kansas City, Denver and Minneapolis have each had one convention within the last half century, Minneapolis being the only one to nominate a victorious ticket.

The following table gives the representation in the Democratic and Republican conventions of 1916, those states which choose their delegates by direct primary being marked with a star in each case:

TO AID THE UNEMPLOYED.

Congress Will Probably Empower Secretary of Labor to Act.

Unemployment and how to remedy it will be one of the subjects considered by congress at its present session. A probable outcome will be legislation giving the secretary of labor broad powers to deal with the question. If he is given the powers it will, of course, be necessary to provide him with funds.

Other plans have been suggested, including the establishment of a bureau to deal with unemployment. The plan favored by Secretary of Labor Wilson is to clothe his department with authority to take hold of unemployment and try to find jobs for the unemployed.

Generally speaking, the members of the house labor committee are favorable to legislation which will solve the unemployment problem or make a beginning at its solution. But there is much to learn about it, and that is a reason why there is strong sentiment for giving the secretary of labor a good deal of latitude in order that he may evolve an organization which will actually find men jobs.

ENGLAND WOULD ASSIST AMERICA

Foolish Dreams of Fiction Writers Completely Annihilated.

CANADA FURNISHES REASON

Wealthy British Possession Is a Guarantee That No European Nation Could Capture the United States. Idealists Who See Calamity Fail to Realize Important Feature.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—All of the fiction writers, all of the army and navy experts, all of the amateur strategists who have been telling on paper about the destruction and capture of the United States have shown how Germany overran the country in 1921 just as she overran Belgium in 1914. Without considering how slinking is all this balderdash about the capture of the United States we may pass on to the question, What would the rest of the world be doing?

To admit that Germany or any other foreign country except Great Britain could make a dent upon the United States first must come the utter annihilation of England and her navy. Of course to those who have been writing all that foolishness that would be easy enough.

Canada the Best Guarantee.

To imagine that Great Britain, with Canada containing more area than the United States, would allow any other foreign country to overrun this country and crush it is preposterous. The best guarantee for the peaceful possession of Canada by Great Britain is the friendship of the United States. This country overrun and possessed by a foreign enemy of Great Britain would mean the loss of Canada.

Canada has been the best guarantee of peace between the United States and Great Britain. By the same token Canada is the best guarantee of English support if the United States should be attacked by one of the powerful nations of Europe.

But the whole matter is so fantastic that it is hardly worth discussion and argument.

Put Hughes First.

One reason why Colonel Roosevelt is supposed to name Hughes first among those Republicans he would support if nominated for president is because Hughes is the most unsatisfactory of all men to the "old guarders." If most of the Republicans who are Republicans first, last and all the time, those who "went down the line" for Taft at Chicago and who stood by Cannon and Aldrich for so many years, could have their choice they would undoubtedly say Root. Weeks would be their next choice, then Fairbanks and Burton. But of those really thought to be in the running three stand out prominently—Hughes, Weeks and Burton.

Blizzard From the Cyclone.

Here's what "Cyclone" Davis blew into the Congressional Record when talking about national defense: "It certainly seems to me that all the great interests that would make millions out of this program and that have brought on all this pandemonium for preparedness will line up for Mr. Wilson and see to it that he is elected for four years more to carry out his five year program."

Notwithstanding Its Unpopularity.

When the resolution extending the emergency tax was under consideration Leader Kitchin told how it would disarrange the internal revenue system if it were not enacted before the first of the year. "I appeal to every Democrat here," he said, "to vote for it because it is absolutely necessary, no matter how unpopular it may be."

And that was from the leader who must push other tax measures through the house.

One on Mondell.

Congressman Mondell tells this one on himself: "Some of those war scare fellows say that I am so set against preparedness that I did not even prepare my speech on the subject. Of course that is a slander, but it sounded pretty good."

Figuring the Cost.

A little pamphlet from the war college has recently received wide circulation. It shows in detail what is needed in the way of an army for the United States, provides a system for a Continental army, etc. The interesting feature is at the close, where a few figures are given. These estimates show that such an army, as outlined, with cost the first year $353,500,000. No doubt much will be heard about these figures during the next few months, and the Record will become fat with plans showing what can be done with that amount of money.

Hope He'll Go to Europe.

Some Democrats are hoping that Bryan will start soon for Europe and remain until peace is declared. They say that he can do more good—for the Democratic party—by going abroad and working for peace than by any other course he may take. They point out that there is a splendid field for him in Europe and that he is not needed here, not at all.

It may be observed that the Democratic party also has a man who keeps it guessing.

GENERAL DODGE AS SOLDIER AND BUILDER

After Brilliant War Service, He Constructed Union Pacific Railroad.

Major General Grenville M. Dodge who died the other day, was the last but one of the surviving corps commanders of the Union army. The other is Brigadier General Peter J. Osterhaus, now in Germany. General Dodge was a soldier born and lived and during the civil war was identified closely with many of General Grant's campaigns.

While his military record was unspotted perhaps by any of his contemporaries, he was known better as the chief constructing engineer of the great Union Pacific railway.

"I am building my monument," he often told his friends when they urged him to give up what appeared to be insurmountable obstacles. He was born in Putnamville, near Danvers, Mass., April 12, 1831, and when ten years old drove a butcher's cart and sold fruit and vegetables in Salem. In 1846 he entered Norwich university, taking the military and scientific course, and was graduated as a civil engineer in 1850. He was employed by the Illinois Central in 1851 making surveys and later was an engineer in the service of the Rock Island. In 1854 he landed in Council Bluffs, Ia., where he made his home. He engaged in business and established a banking house, which is now the Council Bluffs Savings bank.

With the civil war he organized a regiment and entered the service as a colonel. At Pea Ridge he commanded a brigade, had three horses shot under him and was badly wounded. General Grant assigned him to the command of the Second division of the Army of the Tennessee, and he organized the slaves and refugees. General Grant, while at Vicksburg, recommended his promotion as a major general, and he was at the head of the list of recommendations made by Grant for commissions as major generals in the regular army.

By sleeping like an ape, sitting erect in chair, Chicago man claims in six months he has cured rheumatism and stomach trouble.

Because they contained liquor advertisements, hundreds of popular mazaazines had to be withdrawn from Washington state newsstands.

Medical Advertising NO MORE NEED OF PIMPLES

It's the Easiest and Simplest Thing in the World to Get Rid of Them—and No Trouble Either.

Apply antiseptic Ucanol night and morning and you can clear your complexion of pimples and unsightly blotches so quickly and so thoroughly, that you will wonder why you didn't use it before. You can always get Ucanol at The People's Drug Store and it never costs more than 50 cents for a liberal supply, and not only that, if Ucanol does not benefit you or you are dissatisfied with the results, go to the drug store where you bought it and tell them you are dissatisfied and want your money back and you get it without further discussion.

Ucanol is the latest discovery for skin troubles, and the reason it is used so widely is that each person who uses it tells others about it and advises its use. Nothing else ever known possesses the same healing powers, and the way it clears up complexions in a remarkably short time tells the story of its unusual success.

The boy or girl, man or woman, who continues to go among friends with disfiguring and disgusting pimples, when they can be rid of them by using a little antiseptic Ucanol, is, to say the least, lacking in plain every day common sense.

DRAFT PASSES FIRST READING

Commons Approves Act by Vote of 403 to 105.

THREE QUIT THE CABINET

Henderson, Brace and Roberts Resign
Following Action of Labor Congress on Conscription.

London, Jan. 7.—The conscription bill passed the first reading in the house of commons by a vote of 403 to 105.

Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education and leader of the labor party in the house of commons; William Brace, parliamentary secretary for home affairs, and George H. Roberts, lord commissioner of the treasury, also labor party leaders, have resigned from the ministry.

The resignation of Mr. Henderson, Mr. Brace and Mr. Roberts were the direct outcome of the labor congress which was followed by a two-hour conference among the parliamentary labor members. At the close of the latter conference the announcement was made of the withdrawal of the three labor members of the coalition ministry.

It is understood that Mr. Henderson will take an early opportunity to explain his position to the house of commons, probably at next Tuesday's session.

There now are four vacancies in the coalition ministry, including that caused by the resignation of Sir John A. Simon, the home secretary.

By a vote of 1,998,000 against 782,000 the congress decided to support a demand for the withdrawal of the compulsory service bill from parliament.

The temper of the congress was tested by an amendment to the official resolution to the effect that the congress should support a measure of compulsion by forcing the single men to attest. The amendment was defeated on a card vote by the overwhelming majority of 2,121,000 against 541,000.

The recommendation to the labor members of parliament to oppose the bill was in the form of an amendment to the resolution originally placed before the congress. This amendment requires the decision of the labor members at Bristol in regard to compulsion.

This amendment was carried by 1,715,000 against 524,000.

Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education and leader of the labor party in the house of commons served notice on the congress that he decided that he should oppose the government's compulsion bill he would refuse to accept such a decision; that he would immediately resign his seat in the house of commons and would ask his constituents whether they intended his action or not.

Thomas MacDonald, a labor member of the house of commons, opposed anything in the nature of support for the compulsory service bill.

President Bellamy, of the Railway Men's union, in moving the passage of the amendment recommending that the labor members of parliament oppose the compulsion bill, said he believed that what was aimed at was to put a chain around the neck of the working classes of the country, which would prevent them from exercising their rights as freemen.

TRIES TO KILL WIFE AND SON

Farmer Ends Life After Attacking Them With Hatchet.

York, Pa., Jan. 7.—After attacking his wife and a three-year-old son with a hatchet as they slept, inflicting wounds which may kill the child, C. C. Richards, fifty-five years old, a truck farmer living five miles east of York, killed himself with a shotgun.

An older son, Norman, awakened by the cries of his mother, escaped from the house.

Richards made a horse trade recently in which he contended he was cheated. This is said to have preyed upon his mind and produced a fit of insanity, in which the dead was committed.

Hamilton Blames Kitchener.
London, Jan. 7.—General Ian Hamilton, in his final report, made public, puts the blame of the Gallipoli fiasco up to Kitchener, saying that the failure of the British government to send 50,000 reinforcements requested by the general caused the collapse of the Dardanelles enterprise. "Lord Kitchener sent a message on October 5," he said, "suggesting the possibility that we evacuate Gallipoli and abandon the attempt to reach the Turkish capital. I replied that it was unthinkable, it was then recalled."

$5,416,169 in Motor Licenses.
Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—Pennsylvania's income from automobile licenses in the last ten years amounts to $5,416,169.19, without counting nearly three-quarters of a million dollars already received for 1916 licenses.

$100,000,000 Bulgar War Credit Voted.
London, Jan. 7.—A war credit of $100,000,000 was enthusiastically approved by the Bulgarian parliament, a dispatch to the Times from Sofia.

Worth While Quotation.
"Let us be of good cheer, remembering that misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come."—Lowell.

STARVES HIMSELF TO DEATH

Your Man Causes Death Rather Than Accept Food From Neighbors.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—Too proud to accept charity, Joseph Sykes, sixty-three years old, formerly well-to-do financially, deliberately starved himself to death in his scantily furnished home at 2627 North Chastwick street, according to the evidence presented at the coroner's inquest into the case.

The man was found dead by his sister, Henrietta Sykes, who is employed as a domestic in the home of the mayor of Collingswood, N. J. He was kneeling by the side of a cot in the parlor as if in prayer.

Sykes resented the gifts of neighbors, who, sorry for the plight of Sykes, did their best to aid him. The sister, who according to reports, earned only $4 a week, divided it with her brother for many weeks in an effort to see that he was supplied with proper food, but her sacrifice met with the same fate as the charity of the neighbors.

U. S. STEEL CO. RAISES WAGES

Great Prosperity Inspires Help
For Employees.

New York, Jan. 7.—The United States Steel corporation decided to increase the wages of virtually all of its unskilled employees about ten percent, to take effect February 1.

A statement issued by the corporation said that the increase had been decided upon largely on account of present prosperous conditions. It added that in addition to the new wage for common laborers, employees in virtually all departments of the corporation will receive proportionate increases. Adjustments in the wage rates of the various mining companies controlled by the corporation are also under consideration.

About 200,000 men will be affected by the increase, it was said at the office of the corporation, and it will mean an addition of more than $10,000,000 annually to the payroll.

GIRL HANGS OVER ABYSS

Child's Clothing Caught on Nail in Board and Saved Her Life.

Mahoney City, Pa., Jan. 7.—After a fall of fifty feet down the side of a stripping at the Lattimer colliery the clothing of six-year-old Ella Culpin, caught on a board 100 feet from the bottom of the abyss, saving the girl from being dashed to death.

A rope was lowered by men, but the girl in her excitement placed the noose around her neck. To prevent her strangling to death, a boy was lowered on a rope and she was brought to safety.

The girl had hung by her clothing for more than an hour before she was heard calling for help by passing miners.

YOUNG FOLKS' CORNER

The Game of "Second Letters."

At a party you can have a good deal of fun playing the game of "second letters." The players form a circle, and after all have heard the general subject of the game the starter begins by giving a word that suits the chosen subject. The person on the left then repeats the saying and gives a suitable word that begins with the second letter of the word that the first speaker gave.

To illustrate, "first names" is a general favorite as a subject. The starter begins, "My name is Anna, and I live at Annapolis."

X is the second letter of Anna, so the second person joins in with, "My name is Nora, and I live at Newark." The following list will show how names follow each other until they run out: Anna, Nora, Olive, Laura, Agnes, Grace, Rose, Olivia, Lucretia, T—out!

Taking the name of a city with the personal name adds fun and demands much quickness of thought. The following, as overheard by a listener, gives an idea of the game:

"My name is Anna, and I live at Atleboro."

"My name is Nancy, and I live at New Orleans."

"My name is Alice, and I live at Albany."

"My name is Lena, and I live at Los Angeles."

"My name is Elsie, and I live at—"

"She's stuck! Out!" The master of ceremonies has said her say. On goes the game. Intent are eyes, ears, brains, ready to pounce upon the bit of information needed to continue the game.

You will enjoy this game because it is good fun, and when it is over you will realize that you have gained something, too, for it is excellent memory practice. And then there is the pleasant feeling that comes when you do not fail—you have done your part to keep the game going—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

Game of "Ghosts."

A game that affords much amusement is called "ghosts." A player says a letter. He has in mind a word beginning with this letter. The second player adds a letter, also having a word in mind. This keeps on until a word is constructed. A player who ends a word becomes a third of a ghost. He can usually tell by the next to the last letter where it will end. Take, for instance, the word "delude." The player whose turn it is after the one who said "d" the second time usually can tell that the word is delude. Instead of becoming a third of a ghost, he will think and say "I" having in mind "deluding."

When he says "I" probably a player will have his doubts as to whether there could be any word having "delude" for part of it. He challenges the player. When the player has a word the challenger becomes a third of a ghost. If he has not he becomes a "third." When a player becomes three-thirds of a ghost (for each time he ends a word or violates a condition he becomes another third) he is "out." When he gets "out" he tries to make the ones in the game laugh or talk to him. If he succeeds they become a third of a ghost.

Very often a player unconsciously finishes a word. The word may start with "e." He will say "e," probably thinking of hercule. He has formed the word "e" and is a third of a ghost.

About Mammals.

Mammals are called so because they are milk giving animals. The teeth are interesting, differing a little in form in each class and each member of a class of mammals.

We have grinders or molars for grinding food, pointed at the sides, or canine, and incisors or front teeth. Humans, who are prepared to eat anything, are omnivorous. A cow is herbivorous, and the cat, dog and lion are carnivorous.

A lion bites, but does not masticate, and the lion's work up and down. A cow masticates or chews, moving the jaws from side to side.

Man masticates his food.

"Russian Scandal."

A very interesting game is "Russian scandal." The players sit in a long line or ring. The first, turning to the second, whispers very rapidly some remark or a brief story. The second, who may hear it distinctly, but probably does not, then whispers it as exactly as he can to the third player, and so on until the line is finished. The last player then whispers it to the first player, and the first player repeats his original remark to the company and follows it with the form in which it has just reached him. The result is always very amusing.

One Scout in 10,000 Delinquents.

In a recent address Mr. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education for Chicago, said that in more than 10,000 cases of delinquency only one boy scout's name appears. We are reminded of the comment of our own Judge Walter that "during my four years' experience in this court I have not, to the best of my knowledge, had a single boy scout before me as a delinquent."—Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune.

HARD COLDS

Cause Weak Lungs, Gettysburg Drug-gists Suggest a Reliable Remedy.

We have a constitutional remedy for hard colds and weak lungs which we guarantee. Such letters as this prove its efficiency.

Wickatunk, N. J. "I suffered from weak lungs, pains in my chest and very short of breath. I am an agent for the C. R. R. of New Jersey. I had a very bad cough and lost fifteen pounds in weight and my trouble interfered with my occupation so that I had to stop work last July. I had doctored for some time without benefit, but when I learned of Vinol through a friend I decided to try it, and soon commenced to improve. My cough has gone, the soreness from my chest disappeared, I am working again, and have regained the fifteen pounds in flesh which I lost." Victor Walden, Wickatunk, N. J.

The reason Vinol is superior to any other remedy is because it contains in deliciously palatable form the healing, body-building and strengthening elements of fresh cod livers, tonic iron and beef peptone—the oldest and most famous tonics known to medicine. Try it on our guarantee. C. Wm. Beales, Prop., of The People's Drug Store.

A RUN ON RAISINS.

ESCALOPED RAISINS WITH AP- PLES.—One cupful seeded raisins, one-quarter cupful brown sugar, one quart apples, pared and quartered; one-quarter teaspoonful salt, one-quarter cupful water, one-quarter cupful bread, cracker or cake crumbs, one teaspoonful butter. Brush bake dish or casserole with butter, put in half the raisins, cover with half the apples, dust with salt. Add the balance of raisins, then apples; sprinkle with a little salt, cover with sugar, the water and the crumbs over top and cover. Place in moderate oven on top rack and bake one-half hour, then remove cover and bake fifteen minutes or until brown. This is best served cold. Can be helped from dish in which it has been baked or served in ice cream glasses with whipped cream.

The New Raisin Cooky.—Two cupfuls of seeded raisins, one-half cupful shortening, one cupful sugar, one-quarter cupful milk, one level teaspoonful salt, two eggs, four cupfuls flour or enough flour to roll thin; four teaspoonfuls baking powder. Cream the shortening and sugar together until light, add salt, well beaten eggs, stir until smooth, add milk slowly. Wash and dry the raisins, put through food chopper, add to mixture; add the rest of flour and baking powder together and add to mixture; add the rest of flour; more may be needed to roll out. Roll about one-eighth of an inch thick and cut with sharp cutter or cut in bars with sharp knife as a sharp cutter is best. Bake eight to ten minutes in hot oven. These are exceptionally good cookies and will keep a long time under lock and key. The chopped raisins make a moist, soft cooky.

New Raisin Cooky Without Eggs.—Two cupfuls seeded raisins, one cupful brown sugar, one-half cupful shortening, one cupful baking molasses, one teaspoonful salt, one-half cupful boiling water or sour milk, one teaspoonful baking soda; five cupfuls flour. Put sugar, shortening and molasses into bowl, rub until smooth; add salt, lacking soda which has been dissolved in water. Add raisins which have been washed, dried and put through food chopper, sift flour and work into a dough so it can be rolled out a quarter of an inch thick. More flour may be added if needed. Cut with floured cooky cutter and bake in hot oven eight to ten minutes. Ginger or cinnamon may be added if desired.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper
by Pictorial Review

A Seasonable Frock In Cloth.

It requires only 3½ yards of 54 inch face cloth to reproduce this stylish dress, which is in the new dark reddish purple shade called Regrets. The decorative scheme is simple, being confined to narrow stitchings of soutache braid and a collar of plain satin. The vest may be of silk, organdy or lace.

The back of the waist extends over the shoulders forming a yoke effect at the front. As are all fashionable colors, this one is in two styles so that it may be worn high or low. The skirt is a five-gore model with high waist-line and the back gore made to form a box pleat.

In cutting the material the back gore is laid along the fold of broadcloth, with the collar and back closely following. The front comes next, but is laid on a lengthwise thread; then comes the belt, laid crosswise of the material, on the fold. To the right of the belt is the shield, unless it is made of contrasting material, with the collar coming last and placed on the lengthwise fold.

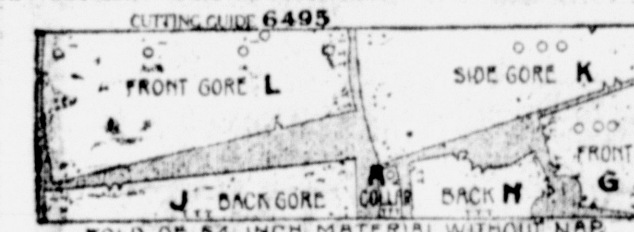

The front and side gores are laid over a lengthwise thread, but along the selvage edge of the cloth. The sleeve and cuff are to the right of the side gore, and the sleeve is perforated for shorter length if desired. If the extension on the cuff is not wanted it can be cut off without spoiling the shape of the cuff in any way.

The front of the waist and the belt should be braided as soon as cut, but this requires only a little time.

A round neck-line can be given to the shield by cutting it out along line of single "oo" perforations, but the double "oo" perforations indicate a square neck-line.

The pockets are an attractive feature of the dress because they are novel both in shape and trimming.

In any other material than broadcloth this frock would be equally attractive.

A Word To Dealers

"To procure the kind of merchandise people want—the storekeeper must know what people want."

Such is an axiom of one of our great merchants, who practices what he preaches.

One thing that the storekeeper does know is that there will be an initial demand for goods which the manufacturer advertises in the newspapers.

He knows that people will want to see these goods—and that if they have merit they will find favor more quickly than unadvertised wares.

The dealer not only stocks with them, but he pushes them at the time the newspaper advertising is running.

HUERTA MAY DIE PRISONER OF U. S.

Disgrace of Arrest Has Wrecked Ex-Dictator's Health.

MORTALLY ILL IN TEXAS.

Too Much Strong Drink Is One Reason Given For His Sickness—Constantly Guarded by Representatives of This Country, There Is No Likelihood of Escape, They Say.

The belief that General Victoriano Huerta is suffering a mortal illness has resulted from reports received at the department of justice in Washington as to his condition.

General Huerta lies closely guarded in an officer's home on the reservation at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex. His strength is gone and his spirit broken. The attorney general's desire to ascertain the condition of his health resulted from a request that he be released on bail pending his recovery.

As a result of the inquiries made by the agents of the government at Fort Bliss the belief has gained ground that one of fate's ironies is likely to be consummated in bringing about the ex-dictator's death in imprisonment under the government which he flaunted with such high bravado in the early days of President Wilson's administration.

The exact cause of Huerta's illness has not been given in the reports which have been laid before the attorney general. All of them agree that he is "seriously" and "critically" ill and that no fear for his escape need be entertained if his release is permitted at this time.

Too Much Strong Drink.

Early reports had indicated that Huerta had suffered from the effects of too much alcohol imbibed both before and after his arrest at El Paso last summer. These reports recall the stories which came to the United States in the days when the Huerta regime at Mexico City was tottering, which described midnight parties in the cafes of the Mexican capital and one in particular which ended with a long drive in one of the parks in the presidential limousine, during which the dictator drank freely from a bottle of his favorite cognac.

The strong body and iron will of the ruler who was able to defy the wishes of the United States for so long a time have been broken either by the excesses or by the humiliation of his confinement. The reason why a request is now made for the withdrawal of the department of justice's guard from his bedside is not to permit his removal to more agreeable quarters, but merely to relieve the mind of the old soldier of the displeasure caused by the fact that he is constantly under guard. He has told his friends that he is never permitted to be alone even to receive visitors.

It was understood that the guards will be withdrawn temporarily and that no bail will be demanded for this accession of liberty.

The old man is so ill that the government officials have no fear of his escape from the military reservation, nor do they believe it physically possible that he should attempt to leave the officers' quarters, where he has been lodged for the past several months.

The story of Huerta's misadventures since his arrival in the United States nearly a year ago is a pathetic one. When he was finally compelled to bow to President Wilson's dictum "Huerta must go" and to retire from Mexico City he went to Spain, where he dwelt for several months with his family among friends of earlier days.

Last spring he decided to return to the United States and took up his residence on Long Island. Department of justice secret service agents watched him closely from the first. They knew of reported activities of his former friends, and before very long the attorney general was receiving reports indicating that the former dictator was considering the practicability of returning to his fatherland for a new effort to gain control of the governmental power.

Huerta Closely Watched.

Evidence that Huerta was permitting himself to become involved in the plans to create a condition in Mexico which might necessitate intervention by the United States caused agents of this government to keep him under the closest surveillance.

Finally he was arrested at El Paso and charged with having contemplated an insurrectionary expedition into Mexico in violation of the neutrality laws of the United States. He was guarded for a time in the residence of his daughter at El Paso and might have been released on bail without opposition from Washington had he so desired.

He was frightened, however, at reports that attacks might be made on him by agents of Carranza and Villa and demanded that he be accorded the protection of the United States government. This demand resulted in his incarceration at Fort Bliss, where he had the quarters of an officer and was guarded by deputy United States marshals.

Our Average Incomes.

The average annual income of each resident of the United States is nearly $250. The average annual income of each resident of Great Britain is $290.

The Decoy

By RYLAND BELL

The great decisive campaigns of the world have their place in history and are as well known as the large cities of the world. The conquest of America, which extended over several centuries, is comparatively little known. It was achieved almost entirely by citizens who, to make new homes for themselves, wrested a wilderness from the savages. None of its many parts is more thrilling than the possession of that region which embraces Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky by the Virginians.

One day during the emigration that set in from Virginia to this region in the latter part of the eighteenth century John May, his clerk and a man named Skiles embarked on a flatboat—the parlor car of that period—and began the descent of the Ohio river. At Point Pleasant they were joined by one Finn and his two sisters. Indians inhabited both banks of the river, and it was necessary to keep a sharp watch night and day. Savage warfare was what it had always been—not open fighting, but cunning. The red men rarely attacked a boat in the river, but practiced all sorts of acts to decoy the emigrants to the shore, where an ambush was set. One of the devices was to compel captive whites to call out to the travelers that they had escaped from Indians and beg to be taken aboard.

One morning at daylight the watch awakened the crew with the information that there were fires below. At the same time two white men came down to the river bank on the side of the fires and begged to be taken aboard. They told a plausible story as to how they had been captured and how they had escaped, stating that if left they would likely be retaken. May, who was familiar with Indian devices, turned a deaf ear to their entreaties. He asked them what had caused the fires below, and they professed ignorance of them. May was by this convinced that the men were decoys and kept the middle of the stream. While they were talking the men were running on the shore to keep pace with the boat, pleading in despairing tones to be saved from torture and death.

This was too much for the women, who were in favor of landing and taking the fugitives aboard. Finn was soon won over; May held firm for awhile, but was at last persuaded. He consented to run near enough to the bank to permit Finn to wade ashore and have a nearer view of and question the two men. By the time this was decided on the boat had drifted a mile beyond the latter. The boat was pulled to the bank, and Finn stepped ashore.

Several Indians stepped out from cover, seized him and fired on the boat. Two of the men sprang to their guns, the third, May, to an oar. His only hope was to get the boat again into the current. He called to the others to drop their rifles and help him, but the fire was so hot that they sank down for shelter. The boat lay still while the Indians kept pouring in lead. One of the women was killed, Skiles badly wounded, and there was nothing for May to do but surrender. When he arose to do so he was shot dead.

The Indians now went out to the boat, scalped the dead and made captives of the party. They were joined by the two decoy white renegades, and all spent the night on the river bank.

In the morning three flatboats made their appearance. They were in charge of Thomas Marshall and his son. The Indians forced their prisoners to man the oars of the captive boat, which was headed for the channel to intercept those coming down. The 3 in Marshall's boats saw their danger and made what preparations they could for defense. The first two boats, though exposed to a heavy fire from the Indians, passed on down and escaped.

Marshall commanded the last boat. The Indians while attempting to reach it got out of the current. Their prisoners roved in such a way as purposely to make little headway. Taking advantage of this, the second boat allowed the third to overtake it, and transferring the passengers, the third was set adrift. Then, the oars and rowers available being doubled, the whole party made their escape.

This yielding to the pleadings of the white decoys, taken with other cases, resulted in some very unmerciful refusals to take aboard real escaped prisoners. A Colonel Downing had been captured and marched into the Indian country north of the Ohio river by an old Indian and his son. One evening as the Indian went for water the prisoner picked up a tomahawk, followed him and killed him. The young man sprang upon him, but was thrown off wounded and escaped to the river. A flatboat came by, and Downing begged to be taken aboard. Those on board not only turned a deaf ear to his entreaties, but the boat was turned to the opposite shore. Other boats came along, and the fugitive ran along the shore, pleading with them to save him. All refused till at last a man consented to come ashore for him in a canoe.

Now many white men who had been captured by Indians and escaped were left to be retaken on account of the practices of the decoys is uncertain, but there were probably a number of them, for during the opening up of the country the emigrants and settlers were constantly falling into the hands of the savages.

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyomei Carries Healing Medicated Air to the Infected Membrane.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, lotions, and the like. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would probably have said the only way to help catarrh would be to have a change of climate but now with a simple preparation called Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket, and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day successfully treat yourself.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life time, and if one bottle does not give permanent relief, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained at any time for a trifling sum. It is more economical than all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only treatment known to us that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

The Peoples' Drug Store have sold a great many Hyomei outfits and the more they sell, the more convinced they are, that they are perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not relieve.

GETTYSBURG ROCK LAD SERIOUSLY HURT COASTING FOR IOWA TABLET

Four Ton Boulder will be Transported Free by Railroads. To be Erected in Honor of Civil War Soldiers.

A four ton boulder from the Gettysburg Battlefield is to be shipped in a few days to Lisbon, Iowa, to furnish a portion of a monument to be erected there to the honor of Pennsylvania soldiers of the Civil War, now residing in and about that city.

Requests for boulders from the battlefield are frequently received at the offices of the National Park Commission but they are always refused, the Commission feeling that they do not have the right to remove any government property. This was explained to those making the request for the Lisbon veterans and they said they would be satisfied with one that did not come from property controlled by the Commission provided it was from a farm within the twenty four square miles usually regarded as embracing the battlefield.

They were accordingly placed in communication with those who could fill their wants and a search is now being made over several farms for a big stone the size and shape that is desired. The stone will have placed on it a memorial tablet in bronze with a suitable inscription. The monument is to be ready for dedication on Memorial Day.

More than ordinary interest is taken here in the arrangements, for the reason that Pennsylvania troops are concerned and it was felt they had a better reason for making the request than most of those who have asked in the past.

The railroads concerned in the movement of the stone from Gettysburg to Lisbon have agreed to give it free transportation, and the main portion of the monument will accordingly be secured at the very minimum of expense.

BOLD HOLD-UP

Carlisle Road Near Town Scene of Highwayman's Work.

Harry Shultz and his son were held up by a masked highwayman on Carlisle street extended about 9:15 Saturday night as they were returning home. The hold-up occurred at the Alms House lane, the robber blindfolded the man with a powerful electric flash lamp while he compelled the son to go through his father's pockets. Only $2 was found and, after securing this, the highwayman allowed them to go on. Mr. Shultz went to the nearest house and telephoned for officers.

Constable Shealer and Deputy Sheriff John Hartman went to the Count, Home and placed under arrest two negroes who were there for night's lodging. Sunday Mr. Shultz came in to identify them but could not do it. No flashlight was found on either one and the money they had did not amount to $2. On his way to town Mr. Shultz found some money lying on the road near the spot where he was robbed.

LAD SERIOUSLY HURT COASTING

Sled Jumps from Smooth Track and Boy is Thrown Headfirst into Gutter. Concussion of the Brain Follows.

Losing control of his sled while coasting near East Berlin on Saturday, John Myers, aged 8 years, was thrown into a deep gutter, alighting on his head and remaining unconscious for twenty minutes. He is now in a serious condition, suffering from concussion of the brain.

With a number of other boys, young Myers was enjoying the sport on the hill near the Miller home. They had been coasting for an hour or more and there had been no mishap to mar their fun. A smooth track was worn by the sleds and great speed was attained in descending the grade.

All went well until, for some reason not known, the lad lost control of his coaster when it was going rapidly and it left the beaten track, jumped into the deep gutter at the side of the road, and threw him headforemost against the frozen ground. His companions hurried to him and they, believing that he was dead, quickly ran for older persons.

He was tenderly carried to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller with whom he makes his home, and a physician was summoned. To-day it was stated that he was getting along satisfactorily and that his recovery was expected.

PETTICOAT MINSTRELS

Nine Young Ladies Promise Excellent Feature in Local Theatre.

The attraction at Walter's Theatre the first three evenings of this week is the personal offering of Charles W. Boyer, nothing more or less than his famous "Petticoat" Minstrel Maids, said to be the "classiest" girl act playing the Keith vaudeville theatres. They are now in their second year. Nine pretty and attractive young women compose the company, not a man among them, and giving the most refined and artistic minstrel performance ever.

Special scenery is carried for the production, nothing of the house being used, in shape of scenery. Beautiful costumes, including many costly gowns are worn, and patrons of this theatre will find a most delightful treat awaiting them during this engagement.—advertisement

EXTEND ENGLISH WORK AT COLLEGE

Another Instructor is Added to this Department and Scope of the Work is Broadened in the Upper Classes.

The work of the English Department at College is being steadily enlarged and increased to keep pace with the increasing modern demand, especially the insistent demand everywhere for college men who can use good English.

To meet these requirements the Freshman course in rhetoric and composition has been much enlarged and extended, and will be further increased in efficiency next fall by being made a three-hour course. New courses in public speaking and oral English have been established, and were last year elected by more than 70 upperclassmen. This year public speaking had to be closed to all but Seniors, on account of the heavy burden of work falling on the two instructors, particularly because of the great increase in the entering class. Next fall, however, the public speaking courses will be opened to all four classes.

The Department is now offering, for the second semester, whose actual work begins to-day, two other new courses,—one in argument and debating, and the other in the writing of essays and stories.

Both of these will be advanced courses, that is, electives open to perclassmen and properly qualified Sophomores; the elementary work that prepares for these courses is that now being done in the required Freshman course. The course in argument and debate, intended especially for debaters, will give thorough practice in sound reasoning and good English both written and spoken, and will therefore be open to all qualified Sophomores and upperclassmen. The other new practice course, probably to be given in alternate terms, will be work in the writing of essays and short stories; a laboratory course which will, as far as possible, furnish its own materials for study.

A meeting to organize these two newest courses will be held this evening at 6:30 in the annex of Brua Chapel.

These various additions in the opportunities offered by the English Department are being made possible by the arrival of a new English instructor, George W. Whiting, of Martinsburg, W. Va. Mr. Whiting is an A. B. of the University of West Virginia and a Harvard A. M.; he has had successful teaching experience in preparatory and normal schools in his own state, and comes here with high commendation from both West Virginia and Harvard.

BRETHREN WILL GO TO CANADA

Man who Came to Conference Gets a Bride and now Tells Fellow Members of the Faith of Canada's Glories.

When Archibald Carmichael returns to his home in Kindersley, Saskatchewan, during the next few weeks about two score fellow-members of the River Brethren sect will accompany him to the valleys of the Canadian province, it is understood, with the view of establishing another little colony of the people of that denomination in Canada.

Mr. Carmichael got into print about a week ago when he came all the way from Canada to attend the annual Bible conference of the River Brethren at the Messiah Mission, Grantham. That was Mr. Carmichael's ostensible intention anyway. His real purpose, however, was developed a few days later at the Dauphin county marriage bureau when he and Miss Roxanna Anger, matron of the Messiah Home, called to get a marriage license. They were married a day later.

In various parts of the Saskatchewan there are many little colonies of the peace-loving River Brethren and Carmichael's stories of the Canadian land of promise have been so glowing that the people in and around Grantham have expressed a desire to journey into the domain of England's big fighting colony.

The entire morning session of court was taken up with the hearing of the case of Albert Einsig, charged with a serious offense, on oath of Mrs. Robert Hess, of near Hampton. The trial of the case was resumed this afternoon. Some matters were closed on Saturday.

A verdict of guilty was found Saturday afternoon in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John M. Kauffman, charged with a serious offense.

The case against Harvey Hartman, who failed to turn over money collected among the furniture plant employees for a Christmas gift for Truman Beard, was settled by Mr. Hartman having paid back $10 of the amount and agreeing to pay the balance in installments of $5 a week.

GUARANTEED SHOW

Magicians and Wonder Workers to Appear here this Week.

A genuine novelty will be the attraction at Walter's theatre, Thursday night, February 10, when LeRoy, Talma, Bosco and a company of 25 magicians, fakirs, illusionists and jugglers come on their round the world tour. The company is a distinct European one and their presence in America is due to the war conditions abroad. One hundred tons of scenery and properties, filling three baggage cars, are carried with the production along with three African lions and 100 head of other live stock. To relieve what might become a monotony of mystery, several European variety acts will appear with the company of mystery people.—advertisement

GUARD WARSHIP FROM BOMBS

Extra Police Placed on New York Bridges.

REQUEST OF ADMIRAL USHER

Was Measure of Precaution Officials Explain, Against Possible Bomb Throwing.

New York, Feb. 7.—Extra police guards were stationed on the Brooklyn and Manhattan bridges at the request of Rear Admiral Usher, commandant of the New York navy yard, it was announced at Brooklyn police headquarters, to safeguard the passage under the structure of the United States cruiser Washington which arrived from Haiti.

The police said Rear Admiral Usher explained to them that he desired the extra guards as a precautionary measure against the possible dropping of bombs on the cruiser as she passed under the bridges.

The action of the rear admiral was clouded in mystery at the navy yard. Commander Frank B. Upham, aide to the rear admiral, declared there was no reason to suspect that any one contemplated hurling bombs on the Washington, and that no request had been made of the police for additional guards on the bridges.

The cruiser Washington, which will be relieved by the Tennessee in Italian waters, will sail from here for Portsmouth, N. H., where she will be used as a training ship.

Police officials were unanimous in denying that the unusual stationing of uniformed patrolmen at subway and tube entrances all over the city on Saturday night had anything to do with bomb plotting. It was a drag-net for thieves, was the police explanation.

As soon as the special squads of patrolmen took up their stations at the subway entrances word got around that they were there to search all packages carried by passengers as a preventive measure against bomb outrages, either feared or directly warned against, and the evening news boys, shouting their wares, added their noisy mite to the rumors by cries of dynamite and wreck in the subway.

PLAYS DEAD AND TRICKS FOOTPADS

Victim Fights While Able Then Resorts to Strategy.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—When Thomas McKee, forty-one years old, of 963 Buttonwood street, was assailed by four highwaymen at Noble and Darien streets, he first put up a furious battle and then when he saw that he was being overpowered threw up his hands and "played dead."

"The four men were giving me a beating," he explained in the Tenth and Buttonwood streets station. "One of them was striking at me with the butt of a gun. I knew I was liable to get a crushed skull so I pretended to be badly hurt and fell. Then I rolled up my eyes and opened my mouth. One of the highwaymen said, 'We have killed him. Let's beat it.' Then they ran and I saved my money."

Special policemen and Titus have a description of the four highwaymen all young men.

FACTORIES NEED MARGANESE

Britain Withholds Shipments and Steel Plants Are Hampered.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 7.—Unless importations of ferromanganese are brought from England in greater quantities many steel works may have to cease making steel.

Before the war ferro sold at $38 a ton. Last week sales were made at $200 a ton and Pittsburgh consumers are offering as high as $250 a ton. Some steel makers are substituting spiegeleisen, but this is scarce and advancing rapidly in price.

British exporters are compelled by the government to hold ferro, and recently shipments have practically been shut off. Some ore has been imported from Brazil, but these imports are uncertain, owing to the shortage of freighters.

LINGUISTIC BLOW ON HEAD

Patient Able to Talk German Only While in Hospital.

Berwick, Pa., Feb. 7.—Martin Reagan, injured on the head in the local American Car company's plant, and rendered unconscious, mystified his wife and all the hospital attendants when upon regaining consciousness, he talked in a language none of them could understand.

The mystery was cleared when a German patient in the hospital declared Reagan was talking pure German, and other Germans verified the statement.

Reagan has now lost the power to speak in German, and converses only in English. Some years ago he studied German, but never became sufficiently familiar with the language to speak it with any fluency.

WILL NOT BREAK OVER LUSITANIA

German Concessions May Permit an Agreement.

ADMIT FAULT, NOT A CRIME

Avers She Never Meant to Kill Americans in the Reprisals Against the British.

Washington, Feb. 7.—While no decision has been reached by President Wilson as to the policy to be followed by the government of the United States as a result of the failure of the German government directly to disavow the sinking of the Lusitania, there are tangible evidences that no break will occur between the two governments.

The most important new disclosure is that Germany has expressed a willingness to disavow the killing of Americans on board the Lusitania, without permitting this disavowal to extend to the attack upon the ship herself.

Germany's refusal to go farther than this is based upon her unwillingness publicly to concede the illegality of the submarine operations which began with the Lusitania attack. The German government is said to feel that it has done all it possibly can do to retain the friendship of the United States in making the concession just noted.

The fact that Germany had gone as far as to disavow the killing of American citizens on the Lusitania was received as a new element of optimism in the situation. It was felt that the differences between the two governments has been brought still farther into the realm of technicalities by this concession and that reasons to justify a severance of diplomatic relations by the United States have been diminished.

For the word "illegal," which Germany was unwilling to incorporate in the tentative draft of the Lusitania agreement, the Berlin foreign office has substituted a phrase which, certain high authorities in a position to be familiar with the status of the negotiations considers covers all the principles involved in the question of submarine warfare.

The agreement is prefaced with the statement that a submarine warfare in the North sea was inaugurated by Germany on retaliation for what she regarded as the "illegal" British blockade under the orders in council. It then states that the method of conducting submarine warfare in the North sea has been modified on account of the friendship Germany has for the United States and because of the fact that American lives have been lost. Germany says that the killing of Americans was not intended, because reprisals should not be applied to neutrals, and in addition to expressing regret for the loss of American lives, assumes liability and offers reparation in the form of indemnity.

While Germany maintains that the sinking of the Lusitania was an act of retaliation against Great Britain, and that as such it was legal, she acknowledges that an act of retaliation is not justified when it imperils the safety of neutrals. Germany also makes explicit the admission of her obligation to pay indemnity for the American lives lost with the Lusitania.

TWO SMOTHERED BY SUGAR

Buried Beneath Bags in the Hold of Steamship.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—Two colored men were smothered to death and another was seriously injured when they were buried beneath thousands of pounds of sugar which they were unloading from the steamship L. R. Stoddard, at Pier 19, north wharves.

The dead are George Downey and his brother, Daniel Downey, of Sharon Hill. The injured man is George Clarke.

A dozen men, including those injured, were working in the hold of the ship. They had dug down beneath the great bags of sugar which the ship had brought. On every side of them these bags were piled up and a sudden lurch caused them to slide. Six of the men were caught beneath the great sacks of sugar and all hands were called to the rescue. The two Downeys were dead when removed and the other colored man is expected to die.

Broke His Neck Skating.

Boston, Feb. 7.—An unusual skating fatality occurred on Luna's pond South Weymouth, William L. Griffin, aged thirty, put on skates for the first time in several years, remarking, "I suppose I'll break my neck." Fifteen minutes later he fell and broke his neck, dying almost instantly.

KAISER SEEKS PEACE WITH BELGIAN KING

British Envoys on Hurried Trip to Block It.

London, Feb. 7.—In the absence of any explanation from Official British sources of the trip to King Albert Belgium by Earl Curzon, lord privy seal, and General Sir Douglas Haig commander-in-chief of the British forces in France, which is briefly announced by the official press bureau there is much speculation here over despatch from The Hague, forwarded from Berlin, regarding negotiations said to be in progress between Germany and King Albert for the signing of a separate peace by Belgium.

The Berlin advices say these negotiations have made much progress during the last ten days. Notwithstanding denials, it is stated that King Albert has agreed to consider tentative peace proposals if they contain guarantees for the complete restoration and independence of Belgium.

According to The Hague despatch it is understood that Germany is willing to make these concessions if the negotiations can be concluded before spring. Time is made an all important factor in the discussion.

WILSON HURTS PARTY'S PRIDE

Old Time Democrats Ask How
He Can Change His Mind.

KEEPING RECORDS STRAIGHT

Try to Remain "Consistent" at All Times and Steer Direct From the Days of Thomas Jefferson to the Sixty-fourth Congress—Tariff Board and Preparedness Cause Concern.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Democrats pride themselves generally upon their straight records. Many prominent members of the party have had more or less difficulty in keeping their records straight on account of the changing conditions, but they try mightily hard to be "consistent," which is something of a political cant term. Most Democrats want to trace a straight course from Thomas Jefferson to the present time and to show that they have kept the faith without a curve.

That is one reason why they do not like President Wilson's sudden changes on the matter of war preparation and the tariff board. The president frankly states that he has changed his mind, but the old line Democrats ask, "How could he?" There are quite a number of things which give the Democrats concern, but none more than the changes which the president has made since he came into office.

Repeating His Message.

Those Democrats who are bitterly opposed to preparedness are constantly reading the president's message of a year ago. Senator Vanderman recently read it and laid emphasis on the demand for greater war preparation at that time when Mr. Wilson said: "But I turn away from the subject. It is not new. There is no need to discuss it. We shall not alter our attitude because some among us are nervous and excited."

A year ago the Democrats used to say to Republicans who were talking of greater military preparation, "You are nervous and excited."

Mann's Exact Words.

In time to come a great deal of significance is going to be attached to the words of Minority Leader Mann when he urged large expenditures for preparedness. This is true because President Wilson in his New York speech commended Mann. Here is what Mann said that was so significant:

"We should provide a navy which will be able to defend us on the sea. I have much more fear in the end of war with England than I have of war with Germany."

Frank Lowden's Opinion.

Frank Lowden of Illinois, who was quite a long time a member of the house, was in Washington a short time ago and met a number of his old friends. One of them was John W. Dwight of New York, also a former member, but now a business man, operating largely in southern states. Lowden was asked about his prospects for the governorship of Illinois, and Dwight asked him why he didn't stay out of politics.

"You are a blamed fool, John," was Lowden's reply. "Here you are stacking up money in business, and the Democrats are going to come along and take it away from you with an income tax."

It was just after the announcement that the war preparedness would be paid for out of increased taxes on incomes.

The Universal Inquiry.

"Has the president's speechmaking tour done him any good?" That question is asked by Democrats and Republicans, particularly by Democrats, who are wondering what the effect of these speeches will have politically. Somehow the Democrats believe that the tour will either make or break the president in the coming campaign. That naturally makes them anxious to know the effect of the speeches upon the country. It may take several days to learn the result, not only as to the preparedness campaign, but politically.

Two Nice Old Gentlemen.

Senator Cummings was bitterly assailing the munition manufacturers and talked about "blood money" and other unpleasant subjects. Finally observers in the gallery noticed that two nice old gentlemen left the chamber. They were Henry A. du Pont of Delaware and Dr. Baron B. Colt of Rhode Island. They there ensued talk about one great powder concern and its immense profits, and persons also remembered that Colt was a name associated with a gun of deadly effectiveness.

See No Difference.

"The wisdom of this congress may not be as great as the wisdom of former congresses," Minority Leader Mann told the house one day, "and yet I do not see that the congress twenty years ago was any wiser than the congress now." Then he had to have a dig at Congressman William L. La Follette, a semi-Progressive of Washington state. "Nor do I see that congress before my friend La Follette came knew any more than it knows since he came here."

OUTPUT OF SHIPS LESSENED BY WAR

England's Yards Idle as Compared With Peace Times.

BUILDING SMALLER VESSELS

Number Increased, but Total Tonnage Is Greatly Decreased—Government Controls Most of the Labor and Thus the Individual Concerns Are Handicapped.

How seriously the war has affected the shipbuilding industry of the world is shown in the official statistics which have been supplied by the leading British shipbuilding firms. During the past year only 1,655 merchant vessels, representing a total of 1,671,510 tons, have been added to the mercantile marine of the world, as compared with 3,165 vessels of 3,481,171 tons during 1914.

While all the combatant nations have obviously suffered in the greatest degree, the United Kingdom has been the most seriously affected, for the figures relating to British shipbuilding show that only 517 merchant vessels were built, representing a total tonnage of 629,336 tons, as against 1,294 vessels of 1,722,154 tons during the previous year.

Output in 1914 and 1915.

The following table, which has been compiled from statistics furnished by the leading shipbuilders, shows the total output of the world during 1915 and 1914:

	1915.	1914.
Ships, m.t.	1,655	3,165
Tonnage, m.t.	1,671,510	3,481,171
British dominions	517	1,294
Foreign dominions	1,138	2,871
Foreign combatant and non-combatant	55	971
Total	1,655	3,165
Tonnage	1,671,510	3,481,171

In the statistics relating to war turned out by British yards, no figures are given of warships built. Were these figures included, it is probable that the output might have been larger than in any previous year, but the totals serve to demonstrate the amount of work which has been accomplished in British yards. During the whole year ship owners have been deploring the difficulties which have lain in the way of their obtaining delivery of vessels ordered before the war broke out, and in many yards devoted entirely to war work new mercantile tonnage remains on the stocks and in the condition it was built months ago.

The Production in 1913.

During the year 1913 the total mercantile production of the United Kingdom was 1,424 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 1,977,573, so that the output last year was less by 967 vessels and 1,228,237 tons.

The decrease in the British output has been particularly heavy in Belfast, where Harland & Wolff have for the first time in the history of the famous firm launched no merchant vessel, whereas in 1913 they launched six steamers representing 150,047 tons. Workman, Clark & Co. also did comparatively little mercantile work, for the total of the new tonnage which they turned out during the year was half a dozen with a total tonnage of 26,318, as against vessels representing 75,188 tons during the previous year.

It was early in the year that Workman, Clark & Co. completed their most important merchant steamers, the Pembroke-shire, the Carmarthenshire and the Ebor, for the Royal Mail Steam Packet company. All three vessels were practically completed at the end of 1914, and there are specific reasons why the vessels should be finished this year.

At the end of March they launched the first of a number of steamers which they have contracted to build for the United Fruit company of New York and Boston, the steamer San Mateo, a vessel of 3,310 tons. In May the steamer San Pablo was placed in the water, and this was followed in August by the steamer San Pedro. These three boats are intended for the cargo trade only and are sister ships. In October a fourth vessel for the same owners, but intended for the cargo and passenger carrying trade, was launched. Since October Workman, Clark & Co. have been engaged on work other than for the mercantile navies of the world.

Activities in Clyde Yards.

There has been great activity throughout the whole year in Clyde yards, from which 126 vessels, representing in the aggregate 215,900 tons, were launched. Many of the vessels, however, were small ones, and whether they increase the number of launches, they do not add considerably to the total tonnage. Although the majority of the shipyards in the Clyde were taken over by the government shortly after the outbreak of the war, for a considerable time there was no suspension of mercantile work. There are still to be found on the Clyde several yards devoted in the main to the construction of small steamers of the coasting grade, which are not "controlled establishments," and for some months these yards were able to proceed without any difficulty with the contracts they had on hand.

It was only after the government decided upon a scheme for drawing all available labor to the "controlled yards" for war work that these firms experienced any difficulty.

For Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Coughs And Cold

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as The People's Drug Store are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expecto-rant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—'Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints.' Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50¢ worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine, or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, St. Paul, Minn.

JAPAN HAS HER "WAR BRIDES" TOO

Millionaires Made by Selling Goods to Belligerents.

ARMS SALE IS $34,500,000

Shipping, Mining and Other Industries
Thrive and Invention Feels Big Spur.
Munitions on Hand Are Being Sold to Russia—Scientists, Spurred by Necessity, Make Many Inventions.

While because of the war depression prevails in certain lines of industry and business, yet in shipping circles there is tremendous activity, says a Tokyo dispatch. It is reported in the Japan Times that several new millionaires have been developed since the outbreak of the war.

The paper gives the names of certain fortunate ones. One young clerk in the Kobe office of the Mitsui company is said to have made 2,000,000 yen ($1,000,000) in one year by chartering small vessels at first and afterward larger steamers. Almost fabulous prices are now paid by charterers, who also make big money. The Tokyo small shipping companies have been suddenly metamorphosed into big and busy concerns. One such company is reported to have netted $5,000,000.

The shipping industry also is having an unusually good season. The price of zinc for instance, has run up five-fold since the beginning of the war.

In this connection I may add that Mr. Asano, who is already a multi-millionaire and is also president of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, the chief steamship line running between Japan and California, is reported to have decided to establish a ship building yard. It will be at Tsurumi, near Yokohama, and will cost $2,500,000. Mr. Asano deems this step necessary to keep pace with the progress of the shipping industry.

Stimulus to Invention.
One of the best phases of the benefit that the war is bringing to Japan is evident in the stimulus to Japanese invention. This is especially seen in scientific lines, in which Japan had been too content to follow the lead of Germany. But now that trade with Germany is cut off and supplies of many materials are lacking the Japanese are thrown on their own resources. In consequence Japanese scientists are busily engaged in experiments, some of which have already produced good results. For instance, Professor Imouye of the Ueda Sericultural college in Nagano prefecture has discovered a method of getting chrysalis from the silk worm chrysalis.

The necessities of the time have also given an impetus to the plan for the establishment of a great chemical laboratory, which has long been a pending question in the imperial university circles.

Gun Throws Grappling Iron.
That "necessity is the mother of invention" has again been illustrated in the matter described in the following paragraphs from the Japan Times:

"The anti-entanglement gun on which Captain Ochi has recently obtained a patent is intended to throw a specially prepared grappling iron to the wire entanglements, which can be manipulated so as to destroy them by an operative remaining out of range of hostile fire. Even if the wires be highly charged with electricity, the operative can efficiently work the grapple with impunity, as it is completely insulated. The invention is expected by the experts to bring about a revolution in position tactics.

"The captain is a youthful officer. The recent invention is said to have had its inception during his bitter experiences with the entanglements when he took part in the siege of Port Arthur. For ten years since then he has worked upon the idea. He intends to apply for a patent on his invention to England, France, Russia and the United States and to have it employed in the European war if possible."

The paymaster general of the army has given the diet some figures of the sales of munitions of war, which he figures have amounted to more than 60,000,000 yen ($34,500,000), of which almost 40,000,000 yen's worth were sold in 1915. In addition to this, almost 20,000,000 yen has been realized from the sale of military shoes and clothing. The arms and other munitions sold are those taken as prizes and those purchased for the imperial army in the Russo-Japanese war. Japan will have a new supply.

The minister of war assured the diet that there was no fear of a deficiency in the supply of ordnance for national defense. He also explained how the government was taking means to replace the arms sold; how the arms necessary for the mobilization of troops were prepared; and how the necessary arrangements had been made with private factories to supplement the work of the arsenals.

These arrangements were temporarily suspended because of misunderstandings, but seem to have been resumed.

Veteran of 1870 Again Fighting.
Corporal Saragoue, aged seventy-six and a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war, is today fighting in the ranks for France. Forty-five years ago he won the Legion of Honor medal; today he wears the war cross, recently bestowed upon him for gallantry.

May Stop Speeding.
Scientists now state that speeding is bad for a pet dog's heart. This ought to stop it.—Louisville Courier Journal.

GERMANS ARE BEATEN IN AFRICA

Last Army Is Driven Into Spanish Guinea.

14,900 ARE INTERNED

Entente Conquers Vast Colonies Aggregating 900,000 Square Miles, or Four Times the Area of Germany.

Madrid, Feb. 7.—Franco-British troops operating in Kamerun, the German colony in western Africa, have driven 14,000 German troops across the frontier to Spanish Guinea, probably ending the entente campaign for this important German territorial possession.

Word was received in Madrid that the German troops had been disarmed and interned as soon as they crossed the border. Only 900 of the German troops were regulars. The others were colonial troops recruited from among the African tribes in the colony.

The Anglo-French conquest of the Kamerun virtually signifies the complete expulsion of the Germans from Africa, where at the beginning of the war their colonial possessions exceeded 900,000 square miles, being more than four times the European area of the German empire.

The campaign in Kamerun has been marked by fierce and protracted fighting, the Germans being in great strength there and the country affording natural barriers to the French and British invaders. The importance given to the Kamerun campaign may be gathered from the fact that General Sir Horace R. Smith-Dorrien, after holding an important command in France, was transferred to command the allied forces there.

Kamerun is in western equatorial Africa and has an area of 191,900 square miles, with a population of 2,540,000, practically all negroes.

Great Calais Drive Intended.

London, Feb. 7.—Germany's final word in the Lusitania controversy with the United States may be given only when she has won or failed in the great offensive on the western front now rapidly developing.

Germany is aiming a great drive at Calais or another channel port, and from the preparations that are being made apparently a colossal offensive will be inaugurated all along the western front. From many sources there come reports, too, that the great German fleet will come out into the North sea led by new types of fighting craft to battle with Admiral Jellicoe's warships.

The land battle is expected to be Germany's final attempt to break the lines of the allies in France, and until victory or defeat ends the attempt the American controversy must wait. Machine guns, big field pieces and ammunition in enormous quantities are being shipped to the German supply depots behind the lines in Belgium and France, while thousands and thousands of German soldiers are being transferred from other fronts to take part in the big attempt to break the allies' lines.

BOMB IN ITALIAN'S HOUSE

Consular Official in Milwaukee Escapes Unhurt.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—The life of Arlindo Conter, Italian consular agent for Milwaukee, was imperiled by a bomb which exploded at the door of his apartment on the seventh floor of an east side building. He escaped unhurt.

A second bomb, the fuse of which had evidently been extinguished after burning for some time, was found near an entrance on the ground floor. Both bombs were covered with black oil cloth, and in the opinion of the police were composed of composite explosives. No metal was used in their construction.

Whitman Not After Vice Presidency.

New York, Feb. 7.—Governor Whitman reiterated his candidacy for the Republican nomination of governor, "if the people are satisfied with my administration thus far." This announcement was coupled with a denial that he had agreed to seek the nomination for second place at the Republican national convention at Chicago in June, as a running mate of ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton.

Gives Up Title to be American.

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—Rudolph Festetics de Tolma, known in America and Europe as an Austrian count, was granted the right in the superior court here to be shorn of his title and be restored as a citizen of the United States.

Receivers for Trolley Line.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 7.—John M. Graf, an attorney, and John H. Myers, secretary and treasurer of the Lancaster and York Trolley Co., have been appointed receivers of that railway.

Freak Egg Laid by Plymouth's Rock. Dover, Del., Feb. 7.—Charles H. Butler exhibited here an egg laid by a Plymouth's Rock that weighed five ounces and measured 7 1/2 inches around.

DYING EASY, BUT COMING BACK PAINFUL

So Says Man "Dead" an Hour and Revived.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 7.—When you die everything is just a blank, says Harry Tonia, who was shocked with electricity so badly that he was "dead" for an hour, before he was revived by the use of a pulmotor.

Tonia stepped on a loose live wire on an elevator at the National Screw and Tack company's plant, and failed efforts to revive him failed. Here's what he said about dying when he recovered consciousness at St. Alexis' hospital.

"Dying was quick and without pain. Coming back to life was slow and painful. When I stepped onto the live wire it was like a jolt in the back of my head. It seemed as if millions of needles and pins were shot through me. Then suddenly I forgot everything. When I was coming back to life I could hear before I could see. There was a sound like rushing water and a heavy wind. Then came the realization of pain. I knew nothing but pain and then gradually I came back."

REVIVED A QUARTER-MILLION

Allentown's Evangelistic Campaign a Notable Success.

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 7.—Upward of 250,000 persons have attended services conducted in the past five weeks by Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, who came here on New Year's for an evangelistic campaign.

The trail-blazers have passed the 1500 mark. Without particular effort the budget of $11,000 has already been covered.

Like all evangelists, Dr. Biederwolf has hit hard at the sins and follies of the community, and he made a great hit by his exhortation of a cleric who issued a publication attacking religion in general and Dr. Biederwolf in particular.

Removing Rusted-in Screws.

Occasionally it is necessary to remove screws and cap screws that have rusted so much that they will twist before coming out. In cases of this kind it is best to take a little time and heat the head of the screw by holding against it a hot iron which may be heated in an open fire or by the application of a blow torch. This will in practically every case loosen the screw so that it can be removed.

Crying For Help

Lots of It in Gettysburg But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed; Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood. Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.

Read what Doan's have done for Gettysburg people.

George Ridinger, Hanover St., Gettysburg, says: "My kidneys bothered me for years, causing pain in my back and sides. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. I felt better right away and was soon cured. Since then, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills several times and they have always done good work."

up.It is a factor that should at least help in determining your favor towards advertisers.They come to you frankly with their message and at the very least the latter is worth your reading.

Comb Sage Tea In
Lifeless, Gray HairIf Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

Who Was the Bridesmaid?

By SARAH BAXTER

"I say, Jim," said Billy Otter to his friend, James Andrews, "I wish you'd help me out in a matter that's liable to give me serious trouble."

"What is it, Billy?"

"Well, you know I have been attentive to Stella Monroe."

"Most confoundedly attentive," replied Jim.

"I've often thought that you were a bit sweet on Stella. I have lately swapped girls and am engaged to Marian Truesdale. Stella has become jealous and declares that I have asked her to marry me. If I don't she says she will make a big fuss. Now, I don't believe she cares a rap for me. She's like a dog in the manger—if she can't get me she doesn't wish any one else to have me. I want you to play spoons to her and draw her off."

"Well, now, I like that. You propose to use me to pull your chestnuts out of the fire. Not much. You fellows who don't think anything of being sweet on two or three girls at the same time must take your medicine when the time comes. Sorry I can't help you out."

Billy sighed and turned away. He therefore did not see an amused look on his friend's face. Jim had also been attentive to Miss Monroe when Billy had met her and, not knowing of his friend's devotion, Billy made the same love to her that he did to every girl who gave him half a chance. The lady knew his love-making propensity and permitted him to practice it on her.

Not long after the above conversation Jim went to Billy and, with a very serious countenance, said to him: "Billy, as your friend I feel in duty bound to tell you that Stella Monroe is getting ready to bring suit against you for breach of promise of marriage."

"Where did you hear that?" asked Billy, frowning.

"Her lawyer is a particular friend of mine."

Billy looked very much broken up.

"What are you going to do—fight it?"

"I don't know what to do," replied Billy. "If I go back on Marian there'll be a monkey and parrot time."

"There was a long silence, after which Jim said:

"Neither of these girls wants your money. They simply want to punish you for playing them both at the same time. I think that if you settle on one the other will let you alone."

"If I settle on either it will be Stella."

"At this Jim looked serious. You have antagonized Stella to such an extent that I doubt if she would have you now. Besides, I understand that she has gone too far with her proposed suit to back out—that is, so long as she doesn't strike any one else in striking you. Better tie up with Marian."

Billy said he would consider the matter, and his friend left him. The same evening Billy went to see Marian. It was always the last girl he was with who enchained him. He told Marian how he was situated and suggested that the only way he could be saved from a breach of promise suit was for her to marry him. Since she wanted him very much she was only too glad to save him in that particular way.

A few days later Jim hurried into Billy's room before Billy was out of bed and announced that service was to be made on him that morning in the breach of promise suit. Billy started up wildly.

"What in thunder am I to do?" he asked.

"The only way out of it that I can see is for you to be married at once and jump the town."

After some talk Billy called up Miss Truesdale on the phone, told her how he was situated and asked her if she would put into practice the scheme proposed. Marian said it was very sudden, but to save him from a big scandal and no end of worry she would do it for him. It was arranged that he was to go at once to a neighboring town, where she was to join him the same evening. Jim agreed to be at the place to act as best man and said he would try to scare up a bridesmaid. The details having been settled, Billy threw a few things in a suit case and started for the train.

Jim reached the rendezvous at 8 o'clock in the evening. Marian at The College Inn was the house where all the party were to unite. Jim had promised to go on ahead with the bridesmaid—if he could get one—and be at the inn with a clergyman at 9. At ten minutes to 9 he sent up his card, which was handed to the couple in parlor C. Jim was shown up with a lady, and when the two entered the parlor she threw off a thick veil, displaying the features of Stella Monroe.

Billy looked as if the floor was about to open and swallow him up. Jim burst into immoderate laughter. When this had subsided, pointing to Stella he said:

"We two have been engaged for more than a year. My fiancée was determined that you should not treat Miss Truesdale as you were disposed to treat her and asked me to help her see that you fulfilled your proposal."

At this juncture a clergyman stepped into the room, and with Jim for best man, and Stella for bridesmaid Billy was put where he would do no further damage to feminine hearts. To shove his friends Jim and Stella that he had no hard feelings toward them he and his wife attended their wedding.

OVERWORKED MINISTER

Tells How Vinol Restored Strength and Vitality.

Gettysburg people will realize that we could not publish such letters as the following if they were not genuine and truthful statements of facts. The Rev. Mr. Hughes, Holly Springs, Ark., says:—

"I am a Methodist Minister, and suffered from broken-down nerves, loss of appetite and sleeplessness. I was weak, my circulation was very poor, and I was not able to do my duty in my Parish as I felt I should. I had tried various remedies but did not seem to get any better. Through Mr. Getlin of Bearden, Ark., I learned of Vinol, and it built me up. I regained my appetite, can sleep better and do more work."

There is no secret about Vinol, it derives its power to build up the overworked, broken-down, nervous system from the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers without oil combined with tonic iron and beef peptone.

Anyone in Gettysburg who wishes to try Vinol can do so with the understanding that we will return their money if they are not satisfied. C. W. Beales, Prop. of The People's Drug Store.
